Quarter 2 – Module 2:

Vocal Music of Cordillera

Introductory Message

This Self-Learning Module (SLM) is prepared so that you, our dear learners, can continue your studies and learn while at home. Activities, questions, directions, exercises, and discussions are carefully stated for you to understand each lesson.

Each SLM is composed of different parts. Each part shall guide you step-by-step as you discover and understand the lesson prepared for you.

Pre-tests are provided to measure your prior knowledge on lessons in each SLM. This will tell you if you need to proceed on completing this module or if you need to ask your facilitator or your teacher's assistance for better understanding of the lesson. At the end of each module, you need to answer the post-test to self-check your learning. Answer keys are provided for each activity and test. We trust that you will be honest in using these.

In addition to the material in the main text, Notes to the Teacher are also provided to our facilitators and parents for strategies and reminders on how they can best help you on your home-based learning.

Please use this module with care. Do not put unnecessary marks on any part of this SLM. Use a separate sheet of paper in answering the exercises and tests. And read the instructions carefully before performing each task.

If you have any questions in using this SLM or any difficulty in answering the tasks in this module, do not hesitate to consult your teacher or facilitator.

Thank you.

What's In

In the first module you've learned the basic musical characteristic of representative music from the highlands of Luzon (Cordillera), Mindoro, Palawan and the Visayas. Different activities and performances are presented to challenge your creativity and appreciation of traditional music. In this phase, try to recall the concepts and insights gained in the previous lesson and engage yourself in the next activity to assess your learning. Feel free and have fun.

Check your understanding

Directions: Complete the table by classifying the different concept in the word pool according to its place of origin. Then complete the open-ended statement below. You may do it in your activity notebook.

Melismatic singing	Ambahan	seven-syllable line
Spanish influence	song and dance debate	Western musical traditions
Kulial	chanted epic poetry	lyrical poem about love
Free meter	written on bamboo	imitate sounds of nature
Badiw	Matud nila	Tultul

Cordillera	Palawan	Mindoro	Visayas

1. I learned that Cordillera music is ...
2. I realized that Palawan music is ...
3. I noticed that Mindoro music is ...
4. I concluded that Visayan music is ...

Thank you for accomplishing the first task. Now let's focus on the music of Cordillera.

What's New

Today's lesson will help you fully understand and appreciate the people of Cordillera, their traditions, as well as their music as reflected in their culture and way of life. Some of these musical cultures are influenced by several factors like its geographical location, the continuing advancement of the lowlanders and their common heritage of resisting the invading powers of the Spaniards, Americans and the Japanese.

Indigenous people of Cordillera consider their land as sacred – it can neither be owned nor sold; the source of life and an integral part of their cultural identity. For them, to lose the land and connection from it is equivalent to taking their lives. Thus, Cordilleras now and in the past willingly shed blood to fight and defend their right to remain on their land.

Cordillera people, popularly known as Igorot are group of indigenous people comprising a number of ethnic or ethno-linguistic identities like the Apayao or Isnag, Tingguian, Kalinga, Bontoc, Kankanaey, Ibaloy, Ifugao and Bago. They are known for their unique vocal and instrumental music. They usually perform in groups where villagers of all walks of life are enjoined to showcase their talents especially in singing, dancing and playing instrument. They have a rich variety of songs and music performed on instruments like the Salidumay, the Oggayam, the Hudhud and Badiw.

In 2008 (3.COM), Hudhud is inscribed on the Representative List of Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity (originally proclaim in 2001). This traditional culture is weakened due to the following reason: the conversion of Ifugao to Catholicism; the advancement of technology – from manual harvesting of rice to mechanized one; the constant decline of numbers of rice growers and only a few aged narrators are now left.

Performance Practices

Music performances of Cordillera are link to the different events such as:

1. Birth, coming age, wedding, and funeral
2. Rites, Ritual and Ceremonies
3. Prayer to the gods
4. Peace agreement and covenant

The vocal music of Cordillera music are as follows:

1. Salidumay – is a love incantation vocal ensemble (combination of vocal and instrumental music). It has sweet melodies and expresses gratitude. To the Itneg people this song is a response of the young woman to the Kalkalimusta songs of men during the weaving season. It serves as an indicator of rejection and acceptance towards the man courting/wooing a woman. Salidumay is traditionally not sung in Tagalog language, however in the popular modern interpretation by Filipina singer Grace Nono, the lyrics are translated into Tagalog (<https://www.tagaloglang.com/salidumay-lyrics-recordings/>).

(Please watch the rendition of Salidummay on the link below and try to emulate the song.)

2. Badiw – is the oldest traditional Cordilleran way of storytelling in the form of chant. It is a death ritual song gaining hopes and favor from their relative's spirit. The style of singing is without prior preparation or practice in the leader- chorus form (elder man lead the chant followed by the response of women repeated what the leader said). Messages or themes are from agriculture on land preservation and crop productivity. Performance of Badiw promotes leadership, stronger family ties, and the use of herbal and natural medicines.

(Please watch the rendition of Badiw on the link below and try to emulate the song.)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TfeV9KK56v0>

3. Oggayam – is a festive, declaratory and chant song conveying greetings and expression of opinions related to the events. It is usually heard at village gatherings in Abra, Kalinga and mountain Province. Oggayam is performed during festival at harvest time, on social gatherings such as weddings and peace covenant and to remind the people of their traditional beliefs, customs and morals. This song is distinguished for its special length and narration of the life stories of legendary heroes. The song is not poetic in nature but rather it often uses loanwords from the language of the Christianized Ilocano of the Lowland. Its melodies can be played on flutes (Kalinga flutes, lip valley flute, padong nose flute and tungali flute).

(Please watch the rendition of Oggayam on the linkage below and try to emulate the song.)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=StdCqJ9qCiU&list=PLnye6t9c0qnZIUqtQHmeV41sZIy8yEwV9>

4. Hudhud – is a chanted epic poetry of the Ifugao people recited only on four occasions like, sowing and harvesting of rice, wedding ceremonies, funeral wakes, and bone washing (bogwa) rituals. It comprises around 200 stories of about 40 episodes each. Themes are about celebrations of the Ifugao heroes, heroines, wealth and cultures. It is full of repetitions, synonyms, figurative term and employs metonymy (use of the name of one thing for that of another), metaphors (anything used as a symbol of something else) and onomatopoeia (creation of words that imitate natural sounds). Hudhud is performed in leader-chorus style (the reciter is an elderly woman occupying key position in the community) that usually last for three to four days.

(Please watch the rendition of Hudhud on the linkage below and try to emulate the song.)
