2. In what way can the policy affect the character?

Ria was young, only 16, and in love for the first time. Her ex-boyfriend filmed himself sexually assaulting her while she was unconscious. He was six years older, jealous, and controlling, and as it turns out dangerously obsessed. Their relationship lasted for months before Ria suggested that they should take a break. Her boyfriend did not take it well and was furious at her.

When they parted ways, Ria and her friend started a Vlog Channel where they post music, advice videos and personal stories. Their audience consist of mostly young people, majority of them are female and many of them are searching their own identities, seeking acceptance, and trying to feel normal.

One time, a friend alerted Ria that there were links with her full name posted all over the internet, calling her a bad role model. Clicking on the link, it felt like she was being hit in the chest with a baseball bat. She could not catch her breath. It did not seem real. She felt horrible for the girl in the video, abused and laid bare, unknowingly. It was her.
