Quarter 3 – Module 1:

Composers of the Romantic Period

Introductory Message

This Self-Learning Module (SLM) is prepared so that you, our dear learners, can continue your studies and learn while at home. Activities, questions, directions, exercises, and discussions are carefully stated for you to understand each lesson.

Each SLM is composed of different parts. Each part shall guide you step-by-step as you discover and understand the lesson prepared for you.

Pre-tests are provided to measure your prior knowledge on lessons in each SLM. This will tell you if you need to proceed on completing this module or if you need to ask your facilitator or your teacher's assistance for better understanding of the lesson. At the end of each module, you need to answer the post-test to self-check your learning. Answer keys are provided for each activity and test. We trust that you will be honest in using these.

In addition to the material in the main text, Notes to the Teacher are also provided to our facilitators and parents for strategies and reminders on how they can best help you on your home-based learning.

Please use this module with care. Do not put unnecessary marks on any part of this SLM. Use a separate sheet of paper in answering the exercises and tests. And read the instructions carefully before performing each task.

If you have any questions in using this SLM or any difficulty in answering the tasks in this module, do not hesitate to consult your teacher or facilitator.

Thank you.

What's New

The Romantic period is a cultural movement that started in the early nineteenth century. The period is characterized of emotion, individuality, and imagination. The basic quality of romanticism in art is emotional subjectivity. Aside from this, artists were also fascinated with fantasy, irrational, and the unknown.

Several types of music were developed in this period – the Art Song, Program Music, and Nationalistic Music.

Pyotr Ilych Tchaikovsky (1840 – 1893) Robert Schumann (1810-1856), Franz Schubert (1797-1828), Frederic Francois Chopin (1810-1849), and Richard Wagner are likely to be the most well-known Romantic composers; likewise, there are also others who made familiar, including Richard Strauss, Giuseppe Verdi, Franz Liszt, and Giacomo Puccini.

What is It

Composers of the Romantic Period

NICCOLO PAGANINI (1782 – 1840)

He was born in October 27, 1782 in Genoa, Italy and became the most famous violin virtuoso in the world. He stands out primarily for his “rockstar performances”. However, together with his fame came the rumors about his amazing violin skills that was said to be a gift from the devil and that he sold his soul in exchange for those skills.

He was also rumored to have a problem with women and gambling.

What's More

Activity 1 - JOURNAL ENTRIES

Recognizing composers' motivation for creating music.

In this activity, you may use a scrap book or old notebook. You will make a journal of the different famous Romantic period composers and their compositions and cite a short background of how these composers were motivated to compose such masterpiece. You may include pictures and other necessary artistic materials to make your journal a colorful one.

Things to accomplish in your journal entry:

- A. Picture of the Romantic Composers.
- B. Articles related to the Romantic Composers.
- C. Lessons learned about romantic music and composers.
- D. Pictures of musical activity done inside/ outside the classroom.

What I Have Learned

Activity 1 - WEEKLY VIEWING LOG

Make a weekly log chart and place it in your journal. Search for YouTube videos pertaining to the mentioned composers below. Write the title of the song, time/date you listened to the music, and your reflection about the following music of the romantic composers.

Your reflection should be based on the following questions:

1. Is the melody easy to remember?
2. Is the composition appealing to you and your other family members? Why?
3. Do you think the composition will retain its popularity in the coming years? Why?

Summary

Composers of the Romantic era did not reject Classical music. In fact, they were consciously emulating the composers they considered to be great classicists: Haydn, Mozart, and particularly Beethoven. They continued to write symphonies, concertos, sonatas and operas. They also kept the basic rules for these forms, as well as keeping the rules of rhythm, melody, harmony, harmonic progression, tuning, and performance practice that were established in (or before) the Classical period.

The Romantic era produced many more composers whose names and music are still familiar and popular today: Brahms, Tchaikovsky, Schumann, Schubert, Chopin, and Wagner are perhaps the most well-known, but there are plenty of others who may also be familiar, including Strauss, Verdi, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Puccini, and Mahler.

Assessment
